SPECIAL	• The Brute ram ship is built for smashing into an enemy vessel at top speed, hence it rolls 4 dice to damage an opposing ship when it rams.

The Brute is a curious vessel and characteristically Orkish in its concept. It is fitted with superior engines and manoeuvring thrusters, compared to most Ork vessels, but these are not intended to make the ship handier in a fight. The true purpose of the Brute is betrayed by its armoured beak, festooned with rotary blades and drills, which is deadly when it rams enemy vessels at maximum thrust. In combat, Brutes manoeuvre to try to reach a position where they can charge an enemy ship and burst it apart with a single impact. The Brute is so heavily built that it can badly damage even a capital ship.
