Orbital torpedo and missile batteries are one of the greatest deterrents to an enemy intent on attacking a world. They can attack from a distance to disrupt an enemy's advance and deliver a lethal blow against vessels which approach too closely to a planet. An Ork Terror ship, named the Barbaric, was destroyed by combined salvos of fire from three torpedo batteries during its attack on the mining colony of Platea in the Cyclops Cluster and they have also proved decisive in driving off several Chaos invasion forces.
